1. Introduction

- 1.1 The Northern Ireland Local Government Officers' Superannuation Committee (NILGOSC) is a non-departmental public body sponsored by the Department for Communities, established on 1 April 1950 by the Local Government (Superannuation) Act 1950, to administer and maintain a fund providing pension benefits for employees of local authorities and other admitted bodies.
- 1.2 NILGOSC is a Data controller under the EU General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) and UK data protection legislation (from this point collectively referred to as data protection legislation) as it collects, stores and controls how personal information relating to its members is managed. Consequently, it is required to hold, manage and process any personal data fairly, lawfully and in accordance with relevant data protection legislation.
- 1.3 NILGOSC takes its responsibilities as a data controller very seriously and is committed to complying with its statutory obligations under data protection legislation.

2. Data Protection Principles

- 2.1 The GDPR details six key principles which determine how personal data must be processed. In accordance with these principles, NILGOSC will ensure that:
 1. Personal data is processed fairly and lawfully and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subject.
 2. Personal data is collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes, and is not further processed in any manner incompatible with that purpose.
 3. Personal data is adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purpose for which it is processed.
 4. Personal data is accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date. NILGOSC will take every reasonable step to ensure that personal data that are inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay.
 5. Personal data processed for any purpose is kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data are processed.
 6. Processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures.

GDPR also introduces a new accountability principle that requires organisations to be responsible for, and be able to demonstrate compliance with, the above processing principles.

3. Purpose

- 3.1 NILGOSC holds a significant amount of personal data, mainly belonging to Scheme members and beneficiaries, staff and Committee members. The purpose of this policy is to define NILGOSC's responsibilities under data protection legislation and to provide assurance that data is managed in compliance with statutory obligations.
- 3.2 This policy is designed to give Scheme members and beneficiaries an overview of how NILGOSC complies with data protection legislation in our working practices. It is also intended to provide an overview to staff of how data protection legislation should be applied to inform their decisions and day to day work by providing a legal background to the processing of personal data.
- 3.3 NILGOSC aims to achieve best practice standards in managing its information by adhering to best practice guidelines. This policy sets out the standards which NILGOSC applies when managing personal data, in order to ensure protection of our Scheme members and beneficiaries, staff and Committee members.

4. Scope

- 4.1 This policy applies to all staff, Committee members, employing authorities, contractors and partner agencies who:
- Process personal data as part of their role or on behalf of NILGOSC (including contracted service providers)
 - Have access to NILGOSC's systems for the purposes of maintenance and/or service provision in line with a contracted duty
 - Have access to NILGOSC premises where personal data is stored
- 4.2 Staff should read and apply this policy in conjunction with the Data Protection Procedures and Data Protection Desk Guide. In addition to these specific data protection policies and procedures, the following internal policies and guidance aim to maintain the confidentiality, integrity and availability of the personal data which is held by NILGOSC:
- i. Retention & Disposal Schedule
 - ii. Information Security Policy
 - iii. Information Risk Policy
 - iv. Freedom of Information Policy and Procedures
 - v. Secure Desk Guidance

All of the above policies and procedures are available on the Staff Intranet.

5. Roles and Responsibilities

- 5.1 All staff have a responsibility to manage personal data held by NILGOSC appropriately, in accordance with the Data Protection Policy and Data Protection Procedures. Further information on specific information management responsibilities can be found in the Information Risk Policy.
- a) Senior Management Team: Overall responsibility for ensuring that NILGOSC complies with legal obligations, with this policy and with the Data Protection Procedures.

- b) Senior Information Risk Owner (SIRO): This role is currently fulfilled by the Head of Governance and Support Services. The SIRO is the designated Data Controller for NILGOSC.
- c) Data Protection Officer (DPO): This role is currently fulfilled by the Governance Manager (in their absence Head of Governance & Support Services). The DPO is responsible for providing advice, monitoring compliance and is the first point of contact for data protection matters. The DPO reports to the SIRO and the Committee in relation to data protection matters.
- d) All NILGOSC staff are responsible for:
 - Following policies and procedures for managing personal data
 - Advising the Data Protection Officer or SIRO when they believe that the GDPR and DPA when enacted and/or this policy may have been breached
 - Forwarding any Subject Access Requests to the Data Protection Officer and Corporate Support Officer for processing
 - Ensuring that any information they provide to NILGOSC in connection with their employment is accurate and up to date.

The Data Protection Procedures provide further details on staff responsibilities for data protection.

- These responsibilities apply equally to full-time and part-time staff, temporary and agency staff, contractors and consultants.
- Breaches of this policy may result in disciplinary action.

6. Staff Awareness and Training

- 6.1 All staff must successfully complete an e-learning course in respect of data protection and must pass the associated test within four weeks of joining NILGOSC. Staff are also required to attend a mandatory training session on data protection and information security as part of their induction process.
- 6.2 All staff must undertake mandatory annual data protection refresher training.

7. Privacy Notices

- 7.1 NILGOSC has published Privacy Notices for Scheme members and beneficiaries, staff, Committee Members and applicants to provide full transparency on the information that it holds, the legal basis for holding the data, who the data is shared with and how long the data is retained. These Privacy Notices are available from the NILGOSC website at <http://www.nilgosc.org.uk/data-protection>.

8. Overseas Data Transfer

- 8.1 NILGOSC has a number of overseas members who reside in countries other than the UK. NILGOSC does not transfer data relating to overseas members to anyone other than the individual.

9. Accountability & Compliance Monitoring

- 9.1 Compliance with the DPA is monitored by the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), an independent authority which has the power to take action against individuals or organisations which do not comply with the DPA.
- 9.2 As a data controller, NILGOSC is registered with the ICO. Registration is a statutory requirement and every organisation must notify the ICO of the data they hold and the purpose for processing, for inclusion in the Data Protection Register. This notification must be renewed on an annual basis. Failure to do so is a criminal offence.
- 9.3 NILGOSC's Data Protection registration number is Z5698603. The register entry notes that personal data is held by NILGOSC in its capacity as "Trustees of a Pension Scheme".
- 9.4 In order to demonstrate compliance with relevant data protection legislation and processing principles, NILGOSC will continue to:
- Have a designated Data Protection Office, with appropriate knowledge and training.
 - Implement appropriate technical and organisational measures, including regular review and update of the Policy and Data Protection Procedures and other related policies, staff training, internal audits of processing activities, review and testing of IT systems.
 - Maintain relevant documentation on processing activities and update Privacy Notices, where appropriate.
 - Implement measures that meet the principles of data protection by design and default, including data minimization, transparency, improving security features on an ongoing basis.
 - Undertake DPIAs, where appropriate.

10. Breaches of Policy

- 10.1 Breaches of this policy and/or security incidents can be defined as events which could have, or resulted in, loss or damage to an individual's personal data which is in breach of NILGOSC's security procedures and policies and data protection legislation.
- 10.2 It is mandatory to report significant breaches to the ICO within 72 hours of becoming aware of the incident. Such breaches will include disclosure of information that has the potential to result in identity fraud. In some cases, the individuals affected will need advised that a breach has occurred. The severity of the risk to individuals will be assessed in line with NILGOSC's Breach Reporting Procedure to determine whether the breach is reportable to the ICO and/or TPR.
- 10.3 All employees, Committee members, partner agencies, contractors and vendors have a responsibility to report security incidents and breaches of this policy as quickly as possible through NILGOSC's Breach Reporting Procedure. This obligation also extends to any external organisation contracted to support or access NILGOSC's information systems.
- 10.4 In the case of third party vendors, consultants or contractor's non-compliance could result in the immediate removal of access to the system. If damage or compromise of NILGOSC's ICT systems or network results from the non-compliance, NILGOSC may consider legal action against the third party.

10.5 Any incidents of a data breach or near miss should be reported to the Data Protection Officer, immediately and without undue delay.

Individuals' Rights

One of the key obligations for data controllers who manage and control individuals' data is to ensure the individual is informed about their rights, which gives them control over how their information is used and by whom. These rights are detailed as below:

a) The right to be informed

This is the right to know how information is used and who it will be shared with. NILGOSC will publish on its website a Privacy Notice which outlines what personal information it will hold, who it will share it with and for how long the information will be held. Should an individual feel that the information supplied in the Privacy Notice is inadequate or that it doesn't inform them about how their information is used by NILGOSC, staff should liaise with the DPO for more information and guidance.

b) The right of access

This is an individual's right to obtain:

- i) confirmation that data is being processed and how it is being processed
- ii) access to personal data
- iii) access to policies and information held by NILGOSC about how it uses data.

This right, commonly referred to as subject access, enables individuals to verify that the Scheme is using data appropriately as well as providing access to obtain copies of information it holds. Individuals are entitled to see the information held and can request a copy in writing by post or by emailing governance@nilgosc.org.uk.

c) The right to rectification

Individuals have a right to have information amended or rectified if they believe it is inaccurate or incomplete. If NILGOSC agrees to rectify data and it has disclosed the personal data to others, each recipient of the data must be contacted to inform them of the rectification or completion of the personal data, unless this is impossible or involves a disproportionate effort.

d) The right to erasure/The right to be forgotten

This right allows individuals to request an organisation to delete any or all information about them. However, the 'right to erasure' does not provide an absolute 'right to be forgotten'.

Individuals have a right to have personal data erased and to prevent processing in specific circumstances:

- (a) where personal data is no longer necessary in relation to the purpose for which it was originally collected/processed.
- (b) When the individual withdraws consent
- (c) When the individual objects to processing and there is no overriding legitimate interest for continuing the processing
- (d) The personal data was unlawfully processed (i.e. otherwise in breach of data protection legislation)
- (e) The personal data has to be erased in order to comply with a legal obligation.

NILGOSC, in providing statutory duties under the Scheme Regulations, has determined that it cannot permanently delete a member's record. Should a member transfer out of the scheme, NILGOSC will retain a basic record confirming the member's name, contact details, date of birth and National Insurance number details, but it will endeavor to delete any other information including any documents relating to the member. The basic member details are required to be retained to enable NILGOSC to comply with statutory and legal obligations such as fraud prevention and GMP reconciliation. Particular weight should be given to any request for erasure of data collected from a data subject who is either a child, or provided consent at the time of being a child.

If NILGOSC erases data, it should inform any other organisation to whom the data has been disclosed unless this proves impossible or involves disproportionate effort. If requested, NILGOSC must inform the individuals about these recipients.

e) The right to restrict processing

Individuals have a right to limit how NILGOSC uses data, including who the data is shared with. However, a request for information to be used for limited purposes will not delete the information NILGOSC holds. NILGOSC publishes a Privacy Notice, which outlines how it uses data and who it is shared with.

f) The right to data portability

This right enables individuals to obtain copies of the information NILGOSC holds in a format that is easily transferred to either individuals or another organisation.

This is particularly relevant to members who may choose to transfer out of the Scheme to another pension provider. NILGOSC will provide the information it holds to a new pension provider in a format that they can use. A transfer out of the Scheme will only happen at the request of a member.

g) The right to object

Individuals also have the right to object to the use of data for certain actions. NILGOSC may share information with third parties, which is detailed in its Privacy Notices. Should an individual exercise their right to object, it will not limit the information they receive from NILGOSC as it may be required by law to provide certain information. In such cases, NILGOSC will assess the request and take appropriate steps to comply with the request, where possible. However, NILGOSC must ensure that it also fulfils any legal obligation to provide information or supply services.

h) Children's data

The GDPR ensures the protection of children's data as children may be less aware of the risks and consequences associated with the processing of their personal data. Compliance with the data protection principles and 'fairness' in particular should be central to any of NILGOSC's processing of children's personal data.

Any information held by NILGOSC which relates to the personal data of a child under 13 is held with the consent of a parent or guardian with parental responsibility. Children aged 13-16 are generally regarded as having the appropriate level of understanding to provide their own consent for the use of their data.
